Artistic Research Residency Programme Iran-Europe

In the framework of

Cultural Heritage Management Project in Iran

About HerMaP - Cultural Heritage Management Program

“HerMap Iran” - Cultural Heritage Management Project in Iran is funded by the Directorate General for International Cooperation and Development of the European Commission and lead by the Greek Heritage Management Organization in partnership with the Goethe-Institut (Germany) and the Centre for Fine Arts Brussels - BOZAR (Belgium). It focuses on the enhancement of the local management of Iranian heritage through training and through an artistic research residency program.

HerMap: Artistic Research Residency Programme

The Goethe-Institut (Germany) and the Centre for Fine Arts Brussels -BOZAR (Belgium) have built an artistic research residency program between Iran and Europe, consisting of the following activities:

- Open Call and project selection;
- Experimental Lab at the Centre for Fine Arts Brussels (BOZAR)-due to the corona situation the lab might be held in digital format, however if the traveling restrictions be removed, the lab will be held as scheduled in Brussels.
- Digital artist in residency program;
- Presentation of the results in Tehran;
- Final encounter at the Centre for Fine Arts Brussels (BOZAR)

The program is organized as a means to preserve and revalue tangible and intangible cultural heritage by creating new ways for its perception, reception and communication. It aims at developing the potential of cultural heritage for new generations by promoting its contemporary reception and knowledge, by linking past and presence.

Open Call-Digital Artistic Research Residency on the topic of Creative Music Heritage

The Artistic Research Residency Program Iran-Europe invites Iranian and European artists to present a project on the topic of Iranian music heritage.

This project should focus in particular on proposing new approaches to enhance the value of the Iranian music heritage in its various components with the aim of preserving it, renewing musical practices and raising awareness to the widest possible audience.

This can include a variety of different approaches to the traditional and regional music of Iran as e.g. research work on already existing sound collections and archives, archiving folk music of unknown musicians, writing and composing based on the traditional repertoires or connecting these with other existing contemporary music and perceiving formats.

All projects should have an innovative storytelling dimension by using contemporary artistic formats of research and a community engagement dimension, including co-operation with the local artists.

Who can apply?

- Iranian and European artists;
- Interested in works of art related to the fields of music heritage, traditional and regional music of Iran;
- Taking part in all activities mentioned below;
- Willing to travel abroad; (though in the current health context, travels to Iran and Europe might be difficult or impossible).
- The application can be done individually or in a tandem.

Duration and procedure details

All selected participants will be invited to participate in the following activities:

- Experimental-Lab in the Centre for Fine Arts Brussels - BOZAR on June 10 and 11, 2021 - if the Corona situation permits it. The lab provides the opportunity to get professional advices and hints from a group of artists and experts in the field of creative music heritage. This could inspire them to sharpen their approach.
- Digital artist in residency program: Each residency is going to take one month between July and September 2021. The exact time-plan will be sent to the artists after the selection process. Artists should deliver their work at the end of the residency period.
- Presentation of results in November/December 2021 in Tehran, where the productions of each residency will be shown.
- Final encounter: it will take place in the Centre for Fine Arts Brussels - BOZAR in “December 2021” to share all experiences and encourage peer-learning, knowledge-sharing and future collaborations.
